SENATOR JENSEN: Yes, I believe that is correct.

SENATOR RAIKES: Okay. So...so what we...we have a phase-out in place then that people who are quite low on income receive an amount of child...help with child care and then, as income increases, that goes down gradually until once you...for a family of four reach $31,000 you...there's no more help. Is that correct?

SENATOR JENSEN: If you make over...over that 185 percent, there is no help.

SENATOR RAIKES: Okay. So, for example, with this proposal would it be the case then that if...if you had, say, a mother with two children that had received child support help for 24 months that once the 24 months came up that there would be no more child support help even if...even if the income level was 80 percent of poverty.

SENATOR JENSEN: Eighty percent?

SENATOR RAIKES: What...however low.

SENATOR JENSEN: Did you say 180 or 80?

SENATOR RAIKES: Eighty.

SENATOR JENSEN: Eighty. No, there would be support.

SENATOR RAIKES: So exactly what...what does the 24 months end? I mean what sort of support would be ended at 24 months?

SENATOR JENSEN: At the...at the present time, underneath the present bill, there is no limit and you can go to 185 percent for any...

SENATOR RAIKES: No limit meaning no time limit.

SENATOR JENSEN: No time limit, that is correct.

SENATOR RAIKES: Okay.
